

An almost complete list of mostly free best online tools for an efficiPent communication and more

1. Project management

Basecamp is one of the first web-based project management tool (first launched in 2004 and a new version was launched in 2012). Free, but you need to sign in.

Trello

Drag and drop cards between lists to show progress. Add as many people as you need and drag them to cards. Add and reorder lists as you need. Trello adapts to your project, team, and workflow. You'll see everything about your project just by glancing at the board, and it all updates in real-time. There's nothing to set up and everyone gets it instantly.

Free, but you need to create an account and sign in to use it.

Wunderlist

Personal reminders, but also a great collaborative app.

Free, but you need to create an account and sign in to use it. There is also a PRO version, with some extra paid features.

Asana

Asana is a web and mobile application designed to help teams track their work. Basic version/plan is free.

Other paid tools:

Proofhub

An online project management & collaboration tool which has some very good features like Calendar, Integration with Google Docs & Dropbox, file sharing, live chat, gantt charts, notes, labels, proofing, sub tasks and more.

From 20 dollars per month.

Teamwork

Very good tool, but not free, pricing starts at 12 dollars per month.

2. Social Media Management

Hootsuite

With the ability to manage all your social networks and schedule messages for future publishing, Hootsuite gives you a wide scope of your social media activity.

Basic version/plan is free.

Rebel Mouse

RebelMouse creates your social front page, building a dynamic site around what you share. You can connect all of your social networks—including Facebook, Twitter, Pinterest, Tumblr and Instagram—and create one beautiful page of your entire online presence.

Basic version is free (and only large companies need more than the basic version; its also very expensive, it can go up to 100.000 dollars per year)

Gifs

There are plenty of tools available online and as mobile apps.

I mostly use Gif Maker - it's user friendly, online and free, no registration required. And Boomerang for Instagram.

5. Mobile testing tools

Mobile Test – a very wide range of mobile platforms to test

iPad Peek – only for iOS platforms

For a mobile-friendly testing try also this Google tool and, for more, read this.

6. Tools to get the latest relevant news

There are apps for IOS and Android that you can personalize to feed you the most relevant news from your interests: Flipboard (that integrated Zite), Feedly (a great alternative to RSS feed, it's easy to customize and allows to "consume" information quickly) etc.

There's also Pocket, not really a news app, but one that allows you save articles for offline reading and they also have a great weekly newsletter with articles picked especially for you (based on your interests) from the most shared or read articles from the past week.

7. Customer Relationship Management software

Free CRM comes in two categories – free, but limited (also known as freemium), and open source. Comparison below. Read more here.
